Now With F.M.L.

Clark Bolt is farm editor of the Waco morning-evening newspapers and does some TV and raido commentary in Austin.

Columnist-friend Johnny Watkins is the Waco TV farm commentator and writer of pithy observations for your Herald and another publication or two.

Clark is a Mizzou graduate, some years ahead of NOW , but contemporary before the student explosion of the 60s hit the campuses.

Clark had minor car trouble the other day and rode around with me while some repairs were made on his car. He was impressed, if not amazed at the change of much of downtown, industrial district, hospitals and whatever.

He travels extensively in Central Texas and throughout the Southwest. When he saw the new Milam Farm Bureau building among all the mall area refurbishing, he commented on how much more Cameron had done than so many other of the Cen-Tex cotton towns.

It was not criticism, just statement of observed fact. And this kind of opinion, like that of Johnny Watkins, is more than beneficial to this community and Milam County, one of perhaps 25 or 30 Blackland and cattle counties these guys know so well.

Speaking of Farm Bureau, Bill Hoover, the Texas Farm Bureau PR and publication editor, is also a Mizzou grad, a year ahead of NOW. I learned this at a meeting of journalists the other night in Waco, just ahead of some doubles which went down much worse, because of a lot of taped serves, than the food at the meeting.

Anyway, Clark Bolt reminds and Bill Hoover reassures that a few of us are around in the Cen-Tex area who share background useful to reader and viewer alike.

Baylor incidentally has a new journalsim department head, Loyd Gould, with a Ph.D. in lingistics and news time with AP and NBC, who is going to strengthen communications for the old Baylor line.

Clark Bolt would appreciate a man like Gould in Waco as much as he thought Cameron had changed.

Area Roundup

Police Rap Court Pace

ROCKDALE

"I'm sick of arresting somebody for a felony offense, taking him to Cameron, seeing him beat me back to Rockdale, never come to trial, and giving me the horse laugh," says Rockdale Police Chief Truman White. Scanning his arrest log, White said that just since January local police had made arrests for cases ranging from murder to felony marijuana possession and "not in a single instance do we know if the cases were ever heard by a grand jury or went to trial."

Pet Owners Protest Ordinance

GATESVILLE

A proposed ordinance making it unlawful for dogs and cats to run at large in Gatesville was sidetracked by the city council after protests heard from pet owners. Dog owners told the council that because of the number of escapees from the State Schools for Boys, dogs are needed as protection. And cat owners protested that it would be impossible to build fences cats couldn't scale.

Jail 'Shame And Disgrace'

BELTON

The Bell County jail is "a shame and a disgrace" Sheriff Lester Gunn told Belton Rotarians last week. What's more, the county is courting trouble in the form of potential violence within the jail because of conditions, and the distinct possibility of a federal civil rights suit over its condition. "We've been lucky to get by with it as long as we have," the sheriff said in his no-words-minced talk.

Phone Company Wants Increases

GEORGETOWN

The General Telephone Company proposal to boost business phone rates 60 percent and residential rates 30 percent faces the Georgetown City Council Monday night. The proposal would raise business phone rates for one party lines from $10.50 to $16.85; and for two party lines from $8.50 to $15.15. Residential rates for one party lines would climb from $5.85 to $7.65.

City To Get Surplus Land

McGREGOR

McGregor's campaign to get the 1609 acres of "surplus" government land returned to the tax rolls evidently has been successful. General Services Administration has ruled in favor of McGregor's position not to give the surplus land to Texas A&M University and Texas State Technical Institute.

SOMERVILLE

The AT&SF Railway treating plant at Somerville is in the process of changing over into a new system of treating railroad ties. Phase one of the demolition program of the old cylinders and other equipment has been completed and Phase two of the demolition has begun.

Flying Women Paint Runway

LAMPASAS

The San Antonio chapter of Ninety-Nine Inc., a women's flying club, was busy Saturday painting identification numerals on the runway of the Lampassas Airport. The city's name was also painted on the runway in letters large enough to be read from high altitudes. The Ninety-Nine is an international organization of licensed women pilots. Amelia Earhart was the first president of the group.

Judge Grants Continuances For Hearne Men

Judge W. C. Wallace granted continuance from original trial dates for four Hearne men, two of whom are city councilmen and two former city councilmen, at district court in Franklin last week.

The continuances were granted at a pre-trial hearing held for Grady Griffin, Julian Kwasnica, Thomas B. Mayfield, and John H. Miles Jr.

Mayfield, a member of the Hearne city council, faces two indictments of misapplication of funds-theft and conspiracy. Griffin, Kwasnica and Miles have single indictments of misapplication of funds and conspiracy. Miles is also a member of the city council, Griffin was defeated in his race for the council seat and Kwasnica later resigned form the council.

Two other Hearne city officials, former mayor Jake Abrams and former city manager Cummings Suggs, also faced charges on grand jury indictments but pleaded guilty on Sep. 23 to one charge each.

The six men were arraigned before Judge Wallace on July 15 on indictments returned by the Robertson County grand jury on March 28.

The indictments came as a result of a check for $12,000 in city funds which was issued June 25, 1971 to a non-existent engineering firm im Bryan. The money was returned to the city of Hearne on March 19.

Gunshot Victim Listed As Critical

A Cameron man is still listed in critical condition in a Temple hospital from an apparently self-inflicted gunshot wound in the chest.

Sheriff Carl Black said Charlie Barfield of Rt. 3, Cameron, is in Scott and White Hospital where he was taken Tuesday afternoon after the shooting. He was shot with a 22 caliber pistol.

The incident took place about 3 p.m. Tuesday on a graveled road back of the Barfield house three miles south of Cameron.

Headon Collision Kills 3 Alcoans Near Caldwell

A head-on collision at Chriesman early Thursday morning took the lives of three Rockdale Alcoa employees and injured two other men. One of the two was also an Alcoa employee and the other was a young student at Texas A&M.

The accident, which happened on Highway 36 north of Caldwell, was investigated by Texas Highway Trooper Ralph Mutcher with troopers Jerry Benson and Don Wardlaw of Rockdale assisting.

The dead were Charles E. Telg, 36, driver of one of the cars, Warren H. Ginzel, 47, and Ernest W. Morazec, 45, both passengers in the car driven by Telg. They were all from Caldwell.

Listed in serious condition at Scott and White Hospital late Thursday was Jimmy T. Broaddus, 38, also of Caldwell and a passenger in the Telg vehicle. James D. Klotz, 19, of Taylor, driver of the second vehicle, was in undetermined condition at the hospital.

Investigating officers said the Telg vehicle was heading north and the Klotz vehicle was traveling south from Taylor to College Station.

County Receives Emergency Food Fund Grant

Milam County received a $558 grant for emergency food and migrant food assistance through the Hill Country Community Action Association.

The emergency food fund grant was announced at a meeting of the Milam County HCCA by Max McClaren, county chairman.

Vouchers for the first half of the grant were distributed to the County Sheriffs office and police departments in Cameron and Rockdale for distribution in family or individual emergency situations.

The county committee, with representatives from throughout the county, was also notified that a $44,000 federal grant would soon be approved for a Human Services Delivery Program in a five county region including Milam County. $31,754 of the grant will be designated for administrative costs and $12,246 for human services such as assistance for elderly citizens.

Committee members discussed a possible Head Start program, with a decision not to request funding because of the kindergarten program now available in all county schools.

Also discussed was the Family Planning Center located in Cameron. Funding for the center, which has provided family planning services to 209 families in Milam County, has been extended to July 1974. The center is presently located in the former Schiller Motor Co. building at 4th and Travis. Committee members approved a suggestion that County Commissioners consider combining the center with the Milam County Health Unit after July.

Day Care Center Aids Children

The Cameron Day Care Center began in the hearts and minds of a committee of ministers and laymen in about 1968, but it was not possible to put it into operation until the fall of 1972.

During the past two years of operation about 30 families have been served which means that about 40 children have been prepared to enter the public school system and do much better work than if they had not had the chance of learning at the Center.

The Center serves two main purposes: 1. To provide adequate child care and supervision for mothers of low income families who must work to provide for the home, and, 2. To provide Christian care and training for children who might otherwise have little chance to receive such supervision.

Rules require that families must be below a certain level of income to obtain use of the Center.

In addition to the basic rule the following rules also apply: 1. Mothers must be employed, or 2. in training for employment. 3. In certain cases where illness of the parent or parents incapacitates them to care for their children, special consideration is given.

Families using the Center pay $2 per week for one child and $1 per week for each additional child from the same family. Thus they can work for the minimum wage and still have money for family expenses without a large portion being required for child care.

Diagnostic tests have shown that children who have care and training at a Day Care Center that is well run have developed mentally, sociologically and educationally to the point that they are able to do much better work in kindergarten and first grade than those who have not had such training.

At present there are 20 children being cared for at the Center. Of these, nine are from welfare families and eleven from other low income homes. It has been determined that about 90% of those using the Center would find it very difficult for the mother to work without the service of the Center.

Our Day Care Center is financed through the State Welfare Department, and rules and regulations are set down by the licensing agency. We must have 1 teacher for each seven pupils. But in order to receive these funds we must raise 30% of the operation costs on the local level.

The First United Methodist Church donated the building which amounts to about 10% of the total budget. But we still need that 20% which we hope will come from the United Fund, churches, other organizations and individuals.

Mrs. John (Lucille) Gelner is Administrator of the Center, Mrs. Irene Simmons is assistant Administrator and Mrs. Wilmer Floyd is teacher. The present Board of Directors are: John M. Homerstad, chairman; Mrs. Jim Lafferty, vice chairman; Mrs. R. J. Woodum, secretary; John Davis, treasurer; Rev. Perry Richardson, Mrs. Elaine Perrin, Mrs. Elma Flores, Mrs. Betty Humble and Mrs. Darlene Burleson. Two more directors will be elected in the near future.

When The Mood Changes...

The apathy toward this November's general election is monstrous. And invisible.

This is saying it is impossible for a fly to realize the size of the elephant he is walking on.

Little, if anything is being generated statewide from governor on down. Neither party is bringing on heavy interest because people are deciding too much government at national level compels little interest at state level.

Governor Briscoe is keeping his promise about "no new taxes." The timing is excellent with the White House proposing a 5 percent surtax to halt inflation. This federal initiative, among others, makes the Governor's pitch popular and topical. But without it, the Governor wouldn't have a pitch.

And so it goes down the ballot. And just as well. And most likely, this apathy is due to the failure of the legislative constitutional convention to vote out a draft for the public to consider.

We didn't say approve or disapprove. After four months, the public is convinced, perhaps a bit unfairly, that the State Senate and House are doing little for modern government.

But when apathy dominates, it just doesn't change much until the mood of the country changes.

Public As Well Political...

Lt.-Gov. Bill Hobby and Constitutional Chairman Price Daniel, Jr., are supporting a citizens constitutional convention, following the three-vote failure of the legislative convention in July.

The Constitutional Revision Commission has met to consider alternatives and is recommending that a citizens convention take the initative by its delegate selection from various senate and legislative districts in the state.

It is believed that a simple majority can vote out approval for such a step without a referendum election which set up the 1974 legislative convention in a general vote in 1972.

There was a ruling by the attorney general's office in the early 1920's which questions the legality of such a legislative resolution, but observers suggest the old ruling is subject to new interpretation, particularly in view of the fact that this state constitution is the only one in about a century which never reached a public vote, for or against.

Substance of the revision commission's work and consolidation in the four-month convention need not be lost if it is the basis for constitutional convention in the normal sense.

What would not yield by three votes can at least be brought to a citizens convention which is more likely to respond to public as well as political realities.

Inflation Hits Moonshine

By Homer Clonts

KNOXVILLE

Reuter -- Moonshine, the illegal whiskey that keeps the hills in these parts rolling, is losing some of its glow to inflation.

Moonshiners say they have more trouble dealing with the rising costs of distilling than they ever had evading the federal tax agents -- or "revenoors" -- their time-honored enemies.

Most of their problems, they say, stem from last year's sale of wheat to the Soviet Union, which they term, "the great grain robbery." The moonshiners say the grain that once went into making Tennessee "white lightening" is now moving down the throats of Moscow's vokaphiles.

When grain can be obtained, it is going for prices described as out of sight. Where wheat can be purchased for $1.78 a bushel a little more than a year ago, it is now going for like five dollars. Corn has risen from $1.27 a bushel to around four dollars, while oats have gone from 77 cents to two dollars.

The steep rises, according to a spokesman for the federal alcohol, tobacco and firearms tax bureau, have resulted in a great falloff in the number of stills operating in the area.

The revenooer said while whiskey used to cost about ten dollars a gallon, now it is running between 13 and 14 dollars a gallon with less profit for the moonshiner.

Not all the problems are caused by grain. Virtually every item needed to go into the backyard liquor business has skyrocketed.

Sugar, a main ingredient of moonshine whiskey, costs about $22 a "bale" now, one Knoxille wholesaler said. A year ago a bale of sugar -- 60 pounds -- cost ten dollars.

The glass mason jars that have long been used to hold the precious liquid, are so hard to find that many "hootch" makers switched to plastic jugs only to have the price of the substitute rise steeply.

A 20-pound bottle of propane, used o fire the stills has jumped from three dollars to $3.70 in a year.

The all - important copper tubing, where steam floats along condensing into pearly drops of 'shine, has risen in price to $23 for a 50-footroll. Last year the price was about half that much.

And perhaps the lowest blow is the doubling of gasoline prices around here. Moonshiners are a quick-moving lot and spend mch of the time driving over the rough hill trails delivering their goods and avoiding the revenoors, a never-ending trip called "taking thunder road."

The ancient Greeks mixed turpentine with new wine to make it keep.

LETTERS

Dear Mr. Luecke,

Do you know what's going on at your Jr. High School? If you have not had an opportunity to see for yourself or have someone tell you, let me open you eyes.

The magic time is 10:30 a.m.--otherwise known as "activity hour"- not the usual "run of the mill" activity such as library time, study time or just sitting and being quiet. This is a time for talent in many areas.

As we walked through the corridor my ears were greeted with some very harmonizing music coming from the gym. A group of about 100 students singing with great earnest and believing everything they sang filled the air. They were under the direction of two of the teachers, who by the way do not have a major in music but from the sounds bubbling from those kids it could have been Mitch Miller himself directing them.

Then as we made our way again a strange sound came from another classroom. On closer inspection it really wasn't so strange it was just a class room full of students learning a new language, Spanish. We had a special treat for they too sang and , of course, in Spanish. They were not aware of our presence so no special effort was put forth.

The thing that makes a lot of thi s unusual is not the fact that they sang or such because kids do that everywhere, but this is done in such a way that each student feels he is giving of himself to a group.

Then we entered still another classroom and at first glance it was like beavers constructing a dam, everyone busy but in different directions. Would you believe leather tooling, hand painting, and a new fad, macrame? You can't call this everyday things or common because it just isn't. The principal has guided his staff with such precision that he is able to draw from them all their resources who in turn shower it upon each student.

If you have a student at junior high now, you are lucky. They are getting something very special. Those with children coming up to junior high are also lucky. They too will be touched by this very special "activity hour". For those of you whose children have gone through and missed this special program, lets hope that sometime before it's too late someone else will come along like Mr. Huffman and allow them to express their talent.

These students will indeed cherish those three short years and we should all be grateful for having this kind of teachers in our system teaching and giving of themselves to our children and expecting nothing in return except that the student will benefit from all of this.

If you have a spare day or so and would like to see for yourself, call on your school and watch this very "Magic Hour" in progress.

Bullock Raps Suggestion

Bob Bullock, Democratic nominee for Comptroller, said Thursday that Republican hopes of ultimately making the Comptroller appointed instead of elected could spell doomsday for Texas' pay-as-you-go system.

"There is no quicker route to partisan porkbarrelling than to make the Comptroller an appointive pawn." said Bullock.

Bullock said that while Republicans talk about making the Comptroller appointed they admit they don't want a change "until Texas becomes a two-party state."

"That's the Republican way of saying they want a partisan piece of the pie," Bullock said.

Bullock warned that an appointed Comptroller "would be under tremendous political pressures to approve every pet project and every spending bill favored by those in power--whether my Republican opponent realizes it or not."

Is It Fordable?

Kurdish Rebels Remain At War

By Hugo Anson

Reuter--Kurdish rebels fighting government troops in mountainous northern Iraq are trying to hold as much ground as possible before winter rains interrupt the guerrilla war.

The latest round of fighting broke out last March when the Bagdad government ordered the Kurds to accept an offer of limited authonomy.

The rebels, led by 76 year old Mulla Mustafa Al-Barzani, turned down the offer and went to war, after a four year truce which followed a decade of fighting.

The government has vowed to "wipe out Barzani's gang" which it says is unrepresentative of majority Kurdish feeling.

During the past six months of heavy and bitter fighting, both sides have mmade a stream of contradictory claims about the course of the war.

The center of the fighting has been the area near the town of Kirkuk, the major source of Iraq's vast oil revenues in which the Kurds want a greater share.

Last week the governor of Krikuk, Walid Al-A'Azami, ridiculed reports that the rebels had seized the city.

Speaking to journalists in his Kirkuk office, he said Barzani's followers were now concentrated in a small area in the north of Suleimaniya province, on the Iranian border.

But a spokesman for the Kurdistan Democratic Party (KDP) in London said the rebels had launched a counter-offensive against government troops near Kirkuk and had set one oil well on fire.

He said the Kurds had driven back a government attack on their mountain strongholds near the Iranian border, repulsing a thrust of 150 tanks and armored personnel carriers, and killing 300 Iraqi troops including a brigade commander.

Travellers arriving here from northern Iraq say morale among the Kurds is high.

The rainy season will start towards the end of next month, making the rugged mountainous terrain almost impassable for government armor.

One traveller who had been with the Kurds for two weeks said their strategy was to lose as few men and inflict as many casualties as possible, and retreat immediately when a position became untenable.

It was simply a matter of how much ground they had left to withdraw into before the rains doused the latest round of fighting.

The government has been hitting Kurdish positions with Soviet-made bombers and heavy artillery. The travelers said the Kurds had radar-guided anti-aircraft guns, scores of jeep-mounted 105 millimeter recoilless rifles, and other up-to-date weapons.

Iraq has accused Iran of helping th Kurds, and Iraqi troops earlier this month were reported to be trying to cut off the remaining road linking northeastern Iraq with Iran.

This is the Hajj Omran road, built by the Allied forces during World War II to ferry military aid to the Soviet Union through Iran.

Baptist Convention To Adopt Record Budget

A record $20 million budget and a proposal to strengthen Baptist owned institutions will highlight debate and discussion during the annual meeting of the Baptist General Convention of Texas Oct. 29-31 in Amarillo.

More than 3,000 messengers from most of the 4,200 churches and missions are expected for the 89th annual meeting to be held in Amarillo Civic Center.

The record budget commemorates the 50th anniversary of the Cooperative Program, the plan whereby Baptists support work in Texas, in the nation and around the world.

Currently, the 2 million member BGCT functions on a $17 million budget. The budget provides support for 26 institutions, including homes for the aged, hospitals, child care facilities, and nine educational institutions.

Messengers also will discuss a proposal to strengthen the 26 institutions by creating two coordinating boards to oversee their operation.

The convention marks the first time in 27 years the convention has been held in Amarillo.

In 1947, when it was last held in the Panhandle city, 3,140 churches were affiliated with BGCT, totaling one million members. The annual budget was $4 million.

Currently, there are 4,200 churches and missions, with an aggregate membership of two million. The budget, if adopted, will be $20 million.

Speakers at the annual meeting--expected to be attended by more than 7,500 persons--include Dr. Jaroy Weber, president of the Southern Baptist Convention and pastor of First Baptist Church of Lubbock; Dr. Warren Hultgren, pastor of First Baptist Church of Tulsa, Okla, and Dr. James H. Landes, executive secretary of the state convention.

Dr., Ralph Smith, pastor of Hyde Park Baptist Church in Austin, is president of the BGCT. He is expected to be re-elected to a second term during the convention.

The annual meeting will be preceded by meetings of the two auxiliaries: The Woman's Missionary Union and Texas Baptist Men.

Funds Sought For Moving Zoo Animals

Operation Noah's Ark is underway at the Central Texas Zoo in an effort to raise funds to help pay for transporting about 20 animals from Connecticut that were donated to the zoo.

Ralph Emerson, owner of Emerson's Wild Animal Farm in Newington, Conn., is giving his entire collection of animals to the zoo, but the cost of transporting them to Texas is not included.

The estimated cost to transport the animals will run from $7000 to $10,000.

Family memberships to the Cen-tex Zoo are available for $10 and allow a family to visit the zoo free for one year. Applications are available at all 7-Eleven Stores, banks and the zoo.

Farm Bureau Leader Calls For Sales Restrictions

The president of the Texas Farm Bureau has warned that the Ford Administration "must accept responsibility for the unusually sharp price declines in certain crops that are dependent upon foreign markets."

J. T. (Red) Woodson said the "so-called voluntary system for limiting exports of wheat, soybeans, and feed grains will not be acceptable to American farmers if this plan results in continued disastrous price drops and loss of future export markets."

In a telegram sent to President Ford on Tuesday, Woodson said, "We respectfully request that you not use Presidential powers to restirct legitimate dollar sales of any farm commodity to any nation."

The president of the state's largest farm organization said the best solution to economic problems is non-interference by the federal government.

"The current supply-demand situation in grains and the problems in the livestock an d dairy industries mostly have resulted from price controls and government caused inflation," Woodson said.

"We must let the market system work if we are to hav e adequate supplies of food and fiber for the American people with enough left over for earning much needed dollars in foreign markets," the farm leader said.

"All farm exports represent a significant part of the total market for our agricultural prouduction," Woodson continued. "If this hard-earned foreign market is taken away by President decree, it will disrupt the entire agricultural economy for years to come. In this era of shortages, the greatest shortage of all may then be a shortage of food."

Arts and Crafts Exhibit and Sale Scheduled

CALVERT - Jack and Gracia Unger of Calvert recently purchased one of the largest and oldest buildings in that town and are partially renovating it as an indoor facility for arts and crafts exhibits and sales.

100 Texas Place, the name the building was given in recent dedication services, was originally built in 1907 by Budweiser Breweries of Galveston as a storage warehouse for keg beer and as plant for Calvert Water, Ice and Electric Light Company. During the years since its construction, it has served as a Budweiser warehouse, an electric company and an ice plant.

Of brick construction, it ha more than 13,000 feet of lower floor space, 35 foot ceilings with 12'' x 12'' cedar beams and an upper gallery with 2,800 feet of floor space which will fulfill a much needed demand for a large enclosed exhibit area during inclement weather. Outdoor facilities will accomodate over 100 exhibits but will not be developed until Spring, due to the uncertainty of November weather. As little restoration as possible is being done to the building in order to maintain the atmosphere which will be conducive to the exhibition of art.

The First 100 Texas Place exhibit and sale is scheduled for Sunday, November 3, and will be strictly on a promotional basis as there will be no exhibit fees or commissions on sales charged. Set up time is scheduled for 9:00 a.m. to 11:00 a.m. with the show being from 11:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Exhibit areas vary due to the architectural uniqueness of the building. The average area is 10' x10' however special arrangements can be made. Artists will be responsible for their own set up material but arrangements will be made for artists who wish to demonstrate their processes. Exhibit areas will be assigned on a first come first serve basis. Deadline for registration will be October 20. Indoor exhibits only will be reserved-artists wishing to set up outside may do so, but at their own rish concerning seasonal weather conditions.

Promotional materials will be distributed to all communications media in the Houston, Dallas, Austin, Waco and Bryan areas along with invitations extended to all area art departments in colleges and universities.

The central location of Calvert, its historic homes, unique architecture, fine antique shops (which will be open) and overall 19th century atmosphere have made it one of the fastest growing tourist attractions in Texas.

For reservations, information, or assistance please contact Winston Sanders Jr., 1507 Cedar Street, Hearne, Texas 77859 or call area code 713-297-2165. If confirmation of exhibit space is desired please include stamped self addressed envelope.

League Hears Of Antiques

Jack Killgore, Rosebud antique dealer, told Arts and Service League members to let their own taste and interests guide their antique buying rather than strict antique rules.

Killgore was guest speaker for the October Arts and Service League meeting at the Cameron Public Library Thursday afternoon. Introduced by Mrs. Lonnie Dodd, Killgore said antique dealers are getting many requests for Art Deco (the 1920's era) which he described as "not antiques, but "collectable."

Identified as "collectable" were many lines of china, glass or furniture not in the guage of 'antique' which strictly speaking is items more than 100 years old.

He advised investing in wood furniture, particularly walnut, which he said gains in value as wood becomes scarce and more modern furniture is made of plastic.

A Halloween scene with pumpkin centerpriece decorated the serving table where cookies and coffee were served following the program.

Hostesses were Mrs. L. W. Turner and Mrs. Paul Young.

Yoe Zaps Chaparals, 21-0

Defense, defense, defense! Homecoming enthusiam rang throughout the capacity crowd as the Yoemen whipped Westlake 21 to 0.

In the first quarter action the Yoemen dominated the offensive play as they ran 19 plays to Westlake's 9. Neither team was able to break through the goal line as the 19 yard line was as close as the big Chaparal defese would allow.

Under the direction of Jeff Smitherman, the Yoe offense was only able to tally 3 first downs in the opening quarter. Willie Bell gained 22 yards during the quarter and was able to secure 102 yards for the night.

The first substantial drive was when the Yoemen took the ball from their on 36 yard line, and marched to the Chaparel 19 yard line in 12 plays. On a fourth down and 12, the Yoemen decided to try a 29 yard field goal. Joey Mondirck's attempt for the three was blocked by James Wendlandt.

With 9:58 left in the second quarter of action, Willie Bell pranced in from 20 yards out. The T.D. came after the Yoemen took the ball at their on 45. The point after was good as Joey Mondrik provided the power.

The Yoe defense contained the Chaparals throughout the firs t half. The Chaparals were allowed in Yoe territory only one time during the total first half of action.

A second Yoe touchdown came after the Chaparlas were forced to punt on a fourth and 4; Larry Thomp son punted the pig skin to the Yoe 45.

The first play from scrimmage Willie Bell scored HIS SECOND TD for the evening and advanced the Yoemen 13-0. The PAT by Mondrik was successful. The 1st half action ended with the Yoemen in command 14-0.

After a short punt early in the third quarter, the Chaparlas gained their best field position of the night. The Chaparals found their way to the Yoe 3 yard line with superior running by quarterback Larry Thompson. On a fourth down and 3 from the 3 the Yoe defense stopped Thompson as he made his way to the 1/2 yard line.

The Yoemen took possesion on the 1/2 and were forced to punt on third down. With the third quarter nearing the end, the Chaparals again started from excellent field position after a 28 yard punt. The powerful Yoe defense contained the Chaps as their fourth down try for the TD failed.

Westlake recovered a fumble by Gene Kopriva deep in Yoe territory. Thompson's unit took possesion on the 22 and marched to the Yoe 3 in seven plays.

With only 5 seconds left in the game, Troy Daniels from 7 yards out added 6 points to the board. Mondrik had the honors for the PAT that was successful.

The final score proved the Yoemen tougher than the Westlake Chaparals, 21-0.

This is the fourth game in a row that the Yoemen haven't allowed their opponent a singie point. This well Hornets in distri action next Friday at Caldwell. The Yoemen and the Hornets are both 2-0 for district play.

Caldwell Stops Hearne, 30 - 13

The Caldwell Hornets stopped the number one ranked Hearne Eagles 30-13. The Hornets handed the Eagles their first district loss.

The period of action was dedicated to tough defensive action and both teams were unable to score.

Caldwell came out fighting in the second period and were able to score two quick TDs. Jerry Harrison raced over from seven yards out and a two point conversion by Harrison was good. Later in the same quarter of action the Hornets used Harrison again for a two yard TD run.

Late in the 2nd quarter, Hearne was able to put together their first scoring threat. From one yard out David DeStefano scored. The one point conversion by DeStefano was good. The first half ended with the Hornets in command 14-7.

Harrison again scored for the Hornets in the opening minutes of the third quarter. Harrison scrambled in from 15 yards out to put the Hornets ahead 22-7. Nothing else went right for the Eagles and all offensive and defensive plays broke down.

John Ayers sacked the game up for the Hornets when he scored 6 from the five. Glen Hughes tacked on the PAT.

As time was running out DeStefano passed seven yards to Don Hill for the Eagles second TD.

COUGARS NIP LIONS, 19- 6

Prospective LVNs Can Take Pre-Test At TJC

A pre-test will be given Nov. 5 for entrance into Temple Junior College's Licensed Vocational Nursing class scheduled to begin early March.

Applications and interviews for entrance into this, TJC's fourth L.V.N. class, also are being scheduled, Jo Nell Werlinger, Director of Nursing, announced.

All persons interested in applying for the program must be at least 18 years of age and should have a high school dipploma or the General Education Development Test certificate, she said. Applicants should have a copy of their high school transcripts or GED sent to TJC, she added.

In addition, each applicant to the L.V.N. program is requested to submit three references who should be mature persons who are not relatives of the applicant and who can offer information about the applicant, Mrs. Werlinger said.

TJC's 52-week L. V. N. program makes the graduate eligible to take State Board examinations for certification as an L.V.N. Students spend the first 17 weeks of the program in the classroom.

In this classroom segment of TJC's program, students are introduced to the basic sciences in short-term instruction covering such areas as anatomy, microbiology, nutrition, pediatrics, and pharmacology.

A course in vocational nursing techniques and theories also fills the student's schedule, she said. After the initial 17 weeks, the student spends an increasing amount of time in clinical studies, traveling to area hospitals for this training.

Students interested in entering the March program should contact TJC's Nursing Director at 778-4811 (Ext. 391), ro go by TJC.

Cattlemen Rap Protest Acts

Disapproval of "intemperate protest acts such as the proposed wasteful destruction of hundreds of cattle" in Stephenville was passed in the form of a resolution at the quarterly directors meeting of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association Oct. 2-3 at College Station.

More than 250 cattlemen and their guests from around the state attended the two day event. Hilmar G. Moore, of Richmond, president of the Association, presided over the general session.

The resolution stated that in lieu of protest acts such as the aborted destruction of approximately 1,000 head of cattle in Stephenville, other action should be taken. These included prohibition of unrestricted meat imports, allocaton of more funds for beef promotion, increased research effort s for the industry, fiscal responsibility at all levels of government and continued efforts to fight inflation so that the average consumer will have more disposable income.

In addition, Moore announced plans to travel to Washington to meet with Secretary of the Treasury William Simon and to New York to meet with vice presidential designate Nelson Rockefeller to brief them on the cattlemen's plight.

In other Association business, resolutions were passed requesting the State Legislature to honor the biennial budget request of the State Agricultural Experiment Service to further research identified with the beef cattle industry, including range, forage and wildlife research; to meet the biennial budget request of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service to further research of the beef cattle industry as well as various aspects of agricultural engineering; to strengthen the present fever tick force in the southern part of Texas along the Mexican border and to support the recently proposed USDA beef grading standard revisions.

Don C. King, secretary-general manager of TSCRA, reported that the Association records a total of 14,550 members owning more than 2 million head of cattle.

Shade Serves Well Outside Windows

An exterior shade roof or overhang is more effective than interior blinds or shutters in preventing heat buildup through a window.

The outside shade prevents the sun's short-wave radiation from penetrating the glass. Once through the glass, the radiation can be reflected back to the glass only in long-wave form.
